You can sign-up for Katalon account here.

For information on the system requirements for installing Katalon Studio, please go here.

Important Note:

When you sign-up for a Katalon account, you will be given a 30-day trial of Katalon Studio Enterprise, which is the paid, and full-featured, version of the software (Katalon Studio will automatically revert to the Free, but limited features, version when the trial is over). For the training, you will be required to use the Enterprise version. In the event that you have registered for a Katalon account using your Testbits email in the past and the 30-day trial period is over, you will need to register for a new Katalon account that you can use for the training. In this case, you can register for the new account with any other email address that you have not used before, such as your personal email address.
